

PURSUIT OF VILLA IS HOPELESS

AID OF RAILROADS IS BADLY NEEDED

Entire Mexican Situation Veiled in Obscurity So Far as Border is Concerned.

NEWS IS VERY SCANTY

American Officers Do Not Believe
Reports That Villa is Seriously Wounded.

EL PASO, April 6.—The entire Mexican situation was veiled in obscurity Thursday so far as the border was concerned. For the last three days not a single Mexican or American has arrived here from the interior, and the scanty news given out by the Mexican officials at Juarez is received by telegraph and throws no light on the operations of the troops pursuing Villa beyond confirming the impression that the chase has been practically halted at least temporarily.

Army officers here show no hesitancy in expressing their opinion that to attempt to pursue Villa farther without the aid of the railroads is almost a hopeless task unless, of course some lucky accident intervenes. The one incalculable factor is the question as to whether Villa is wounded or not. The Mexican commanders are emphatic in their assertions that the bandit chief is seriously disabled, but their belief is not shared by the American commanders. That Villa should spread a report to the effect he had been shot is so characteristic a maneuver that it is received with considerable reservation.

Intimations in Washington that the Carranza government might soon indicate to the American government that the troops pursuing Villa were actually following a "cold trail" and that the Carranza government would welcome the return of the United States troops to their own country occasioned no surprise in El Paso Thursday.

There have been insistent reports here that the Carranza government looked with disfavor on a further pursuit of Villa because the presence of American troops on Mexican soil was proving an embarrassment. These reports could not be confirmed because the Mexican officials, both here and in Juarez, said the questions of a diplomatic nature must be considered by the government heads at Queretaro.

Army officers here say that while the difficulties of the Villa hunt increase daily and that it may be weeks before he is captured, the pursuit will be relentlessly continued until word comes from Washington to withdraw the troops.

Twenty Apache scouts passed through here Thursday en route to the front, where they will try to pick up Villa's trail. The Apaches made an unbroken ride of sixty miles from Fort Apache to Holbrook, Ariz., and then did a war dance before taking the train.

AN AMERICAN OFFICER
FLEES FROM SMALLPOX

AT THE FRONT IN MEXICO, General Pershing's camp, April 3, by aeroplane to Columbus, N. M., April 6.—An officer here tells how he retreated from a house where he believed he was about to discover a Villa bandit. It was during the search of a mountain district, where there was a suspicion that Villa might be concealed until his wounds healed.

Many houses were under search when this officer saw what he took to be a wounded man lying in bed in a room. He swung open the door, pistol in hand and hurried across the room.

The man in bed in the very poor light looked more than ever like a wounded bandit. The officer started to turn down the blanket covering the Mexican but at one look he fled. He had discovered a case of smallpox.

RECENT RECRUITS TO BE SENT TO BORDER

WASHINGTON, April 6.—General Funston Thursday asked the war department to send the recruits enlisted on the recent authorization of 20,000 additional men to Brownsville, Tex., for distribution among the border patrol regiments. The recruits are being assembled and drilled at recruiting stations at Jefferson barracks, Mo., Columbus, O. barracks, Fort Logan, Colo., and Fort Alcatraz, Calif. They will not be sent across the border but will fill up regiments of the border guard.

At General Funston's request a battery of the Fourth field artillery, which had been ordered from Brownsville to the Panama canal zone, will remain on the border in view of Mexican conditions.

BLUE

Is Likely to Run in the Second District for Congressional Nomination.

CHARLESTON, April 6.—News comes to Charleston from different points in the Second district that one of the names likely to be considered when the Republicans meet to nominate a man for the vacant place in Congress is that of Fred O. Blue, of Barbour county. The tax commissioner has now only a few more months of his term to serve, and the law makes him ineligible to succeed himself. While he has given no intimation that he would make any effort whatever to capture the nomination for Congress, it is believed that he is in many respects the most available place of choice for the Second district for this emergency, and that he would not say them nay if the Republicans of the Second manifest a desire to draft him for the congressional service.

NEW STEP TAKEN TO ENFORCE LAWFINE SCHOOL BUILDING TO BE ERECTED

At Price of $40,000 with a Local Firm as Architect for the Same.

S. W. Ford, of the firm of S. W. Ford and Company, has just returned from Richmond, Nicholas county, where his firm was awarded the contract by the board of education of that city to prepare plans and specifications and superintend the construction of a school building to be built there, the cost of which will be in the neighborhood of $40,000.

Richwood is a thriving mountain town of about 6,000 inhabitants and has a "hum" of industry not equaled by many of the larger cities of the state. The town has developed so rapidly that the board of education has not been able to keep pace with requirements for buildings and equipment. Consequently, a bond issue for $40,000 was proposed and the energy with which the citizens went about to "carry" the bond issue, was amazing. The students, both boys and girls, turned out in force. Many of the boys operated automobiles and no voter escaped.

The voting place was arranged in a back corner of the upper floor of the old school building and was thus made an "electioneering" feature of the campaign for the bond issue, as all voters were compelled to traverse almost the entire building in order to get to the polls.

The present buildings are improvised affairs, and placards were placed throughout the halls calling voters attention to the present conditions. As a result, it was stated that many who had opposed the proposition voted an open ballot for it when they arrived at the voting place.

The vote was almost unanimous for the bond issue.

S. W. Ford and Company, the architects chosen by the board, have built a great many schools, and the selection of these architects for this work assures the fact that Richwood will have a modern school building when the one contemplated is completed.

Work will be started at once and an effort will be made to have the new building ready to occupy during the coming school year.

FAMOUS FLAGSHIP OF ADMIRAL FARRAGUT MAY GO TO JUNK HEAP

The U. S. S. Franklin.

The U. S. S. Franklin, flagship of Admiral Farragut in 1867, one of the largest gunboats afloat at that time, has recently been sold by the navy department for $16,787.53. She cost approximately $1,380,000 to build and was one of the six mighty vessels laid down by Secretary of the Navy James C. Dobbins in 1864. The new owners have not decided whether to dismantle the old craft for junk or to use it as an exhibition boat. She is now anchored at Portsmouth, Va.

BENEFITS TO BE DERIVED
BY SHIPPERS

And Merchants if the Brotherhoods
Win Their Demand
the Latter Declare.

CLEVELAND, April 6.—In a statement issued here Thursday by the four railroad brotherhoods which are demanding an eight-hour day from 400 railroads in the United States, it is contended that the shippers and merchants in the country will be benefited if the brotherhoods win their fight because the eight-hour demand is based on freight trains making twelve and one-half miles per hour in order to escape paying crews overtime.

The statement says: "All merchants and most manufacturers try to buy in as small quantities as possible and make quick turn-overs in their stock but with slow freight shipments it is impossible to do this. Railroads, in order to increase their train earnings per train mile, are loading their locomotives with every car that they can possibly pull. If the demand of the men for an eight-hour day with payment of time and one-half for overtime is granted, the railroads will see to it that there is very little overtime and will move their trains faster and if necessary make shorter trains to get them over the road quicker and cut out unnecessary delays."

PUBLIC HEALTH
DAY IS NAMED

By State Health Commissioner
in Letters to Various Mayors in West Virginia.

S. L. Jepson, of Charleston, state health commissioner, has sent the following to various mayors in the state:

Dear Sir: The department of health last year instituted a clean-up week and the governor by proclamation appointed a public health day. We have a reason to believe that much good was done by having the people of the state unite in an effort to improve sanitary conditions. This year the effort is to be repeated and Monday, April 17, has been fixed as public health day, the commencement of clean-up week. Experience in other states has shown the value of establishing the habit of thorough cleaning up premises, and of co-operation at a fixed time of the year. The following statement of actual results illustrates the value of such a crusade against filth, especially such as results in the reduction of the number of house flies.

Cleaned Filthy
Diseases. area. area.
Total sicknesses. 110 185
Noncommunicable. 36 40
Communicable. 74 126
Possibly fly-borne. 22 65

Here all diseases show reduction; in the case of communicable diseases the number of cases are reduced by almost one-half and those diseases that are possibly fly-borne are reduced practically two-thirds.

In another case a certain area was rendered free from flies, the total number of days of sickness from diarrheal diseases of children under

LOCAL DAUGHTERS
REQUESTED TO AID

In the Sale of Cards Representing Flags to Raise Relief
Money for Belgians.

A request has been issued by Mrs. William Cunningham Story, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, that small cards representing flags be sold by the members of the organization here for the purpose of relieving the war afflicted people of Belgium. The Daughters of the Revolution of our country represent an organization of more than 100,000 members, and to each one has been sent 100 of these cards to sell at a minimum price of seven cents as that is the cost of the ration of one Belgium for one day.

The sympathy of this country has gone forth toward these Belgians as to no other nation. They were the first victims of Germany's iron heel, and they were unprepared for that unexpected devastation of their homes and farms. The Daughters of the American Revolution feels that this is a great opportunity to perform a valuable service to humanity. In the words of Mrs. Story: "We are called upon by these stricken people for help. Shall we deny them, or as a great, rich, neutral nation shall we come to their aid and rescue? Can we give this service, and with a will and in God's name? Three million of the population of Belgium are entirely or partly dependent upon charity. The need of help will continue until the war is over, and unless help is given them they must perish. It is estimated that 90,000,000 people in America have done nothing for the war sufferers. We are prosperous and happy; it is our country's great opportunity to demonstrate not only its patriotism, but its high ideal and its own opportunity to take some small part in alleviating the suffering that the war has brought to these innocent, helpless and defenseless people, who are prisoners on their own soil."

"These flags will be for sale in the stores and convenient points on Saturday, April 8, as this is the date of King Alfred's birthday."

ZEPPELIN FAILS

In the Fifth Raid in Six Days through Effectiveness of Anti-Aircraft Defense.

LONDON, April 6.—The increasing effectiveness of England's anti-aircraft defenses was demonstrated last night when the single Zeppelin which undertook the fifth raid in six days was prevented from penetrating the northeast coast and was forced to flee after the briefest visit of the kind yet made. The night was clear and without wind. Searchlights discovered the raider coming over the sea and never once lost him during his stay. As he reached the coast he was flying comparatively low and the smallest guns found him such an easy target that he was forced to rise to a great height. The larger guns then found the range and aided by the searchlights they surrounded the Zeppelin with a terrific hail of shrapnel and high explosive shells. After maneuvering near a northeast coast town for about ten minutes, the raider was seen to turn and to sail homeward.
